Bollmannsveien/Russeveien

Bollmannsveien / Russeveien - 9 km R/T

The Bollmannsveien path is an exciting outing that winds up towards Falsnestinden mountain. The path is a war memorial, built by prisoners of war during World War II. Along the path are six information signs about the war years in Storfjord. At the top is a reconstructed bunker that can be used for a coffee stop or overnighting. The view over Lyngenfjorden is formidable and makes this a great trip even if you don't reach the top. The trip is especially recommended when there is midnight sun.

Trail description

The Bollmannsstien path extends along the old service road up to 550 MASL. Wet patches are planked and two plateaus provide opportunities for a break at regular intervals before the top. There is a picnic area and toilet on the plateau approximately 1 km from the top. It is advised to fill a water bottle in the waterfall at the lower part of the path. The trip provides a beautiful view and nice experience while offering insight into parts of the municipality's war history. It's possible to continue on to Fallsnestinden (1,059 MASL). This trip is rated black and has parts that are steep. Beware of loose footing along the way.
